SAECOWilson Now Operating Under Motion NZ

Company enters new phase with launch of "Centre of Excellence" stores nationwide

Leading industrial parts supplier SAECOWilson will be a key division of Motion New Zealand Limited in the first part of a major growth phase that includes the launch of its MiMotion Centre in Dunedin.

The change comes as SAECOWilson and other trading divisions, HCD Flow Technology, Seal Innovations Ltd (SIL), and Conveyor & Transmission (C&T) consolidate under parent company Motion New Zealand Limited.

It will make Motion New Zealand Limited – which has its roots in Wilson Bros, a company started in Invercargill in 1919 – the largest supplier of industrial parts and products locally.

Our roots are in regional New Zealand and continuing to service customers locally is key to the business.

The change is pivotal for the business as it continues to drive growth, meet increasing demand, and significantly increase capacity and efficiencies across the country.

Mark Forster, Executive General Manager Motion New Zealand Limited, says the name change and launch of Dunedin's MiMotion Centre – a branch that will bring three trading divisions under one roof (HCD Flow Technology, Seal Innovations and SAECOWilson) – is the start of a significant growth period.

"Having greater capacity and a more streamlined operation in Dunedin for example, means we can have the right products and a larger inventory available to meet a customer's needs as well as ensuring quick and efficient service.

These branches will increase efficiencies but more importantly, it means we can provide an even better service to customers," says Forster.

Motion New Zealand's Dunedin MiMotion Centre is the first of its kind in New Zealand.

Motion New Zealand's Dunedin MiMotion Centre is the first of its kind in New Zealand and is being used as a blueprint for the roll out of similar branches in Christchurch and Hamilton before the end of the year, with more locations planned in the future.

We've got a highly-skilled and dedicated team whose key focus is providing the best possible service.

Dunedin was chosen as the first Motion Centre because the three existing branches – SAECOWilson, HCD, and SIL – were already a sufficient size and covered a wide range of industries.

"Many customers already dealt with two or more divisions and there was growing collaboration between the sales divisions in meeting customers' needs so it was a natural move to bring the three specialist divisions together under one roof," says Forster.

"It will provide Otago customers with access to a wider range of specialist knowledge and skills from technical trades people as well as an increased product range that combines engineering supplies, flow technology and seals."

The consolidation also includes upgrades to Motion New Zealand's ERP system to enable it to provide a higher level of service and increase access to a wider range of products and inventory for customers across New Zealand.

"We've got a highly-skilled and dedicated team whose key focus is providing the best possible service. We're looking forward to enhancing our operation further with these changes which will ensure the company continues to grow and thrive now that they are all under the Motion New Zealand Limited name."

BELTING PRODUCTS

Whether they're hauling onions or sorting potatoes, C&T delivers a proven track record. Equally at home in the field or packaging houses, our belts are built to take the constant punishment of high-speed cycling during hours of run time.

Our belts are field tested to ensure top performance while handling demanding service requirements - from harvesting equipment for grain, seed crops, wine grapes, fruits and vegetables, to packing houses with package handling and solid woven PVC belts, where high speeds and small pulley diameters are required.

We design and fabricate belts for both OEM and aftermarket, and we can create custom designs for hay baling, grain handling, elevator applications, potato harvesting, and other unique applications.

THE BEST BELTS IN THE BUSINESS

We've been fabricating belts for the agricultural industry for decades, with a wide range of rubber and PVC belting to meet almost every application in today's marketplace.

In fact, we provide world-class belting for all makes and models of fertiliser, grain, and baler machinery. Our experts can offer technical belt assistance, advice, and application suggestions for maximum uptime at the lowest cost.

Our Broad Selection Includes:

- ▶ Grain Belting
- ▶ Fertiliser Belting
- ▶ Baler Belting
- ▶ Installation Tools, Fasteners and Accessories

GRAIN AND FERTILISER BELTING

Belts used in grain handling applications, or grain elevators, are exposed to some of the most demanding environments imaginable.

Using a reliable product to maintain safety is essential. Inside an enclosed elevator application, the build-up of temperatures is much higher than other types of conveyor systems.

Build-up of static levels caused by grain sliding across the belt can also create problems, so static conductive belt options are available to reduce associated risk factors.

When handling fertiliser and other potentially combustible materials, it's critical to use belting that won't create static electricity that could potentially ignite gases and dust in the atmosphere, as well as being belting that offers long-term durability and reliability.

0800 4 BELTS | 0800 423 587

ELEVATOR BELTING

C&T elevator belts for both grain and fertiliser applications are designed to not only provide the best operational performance, but also the highest standards in design safety.

We inventory many belting options for bulk grain, seed, and fertiliser conveying including the most popular belts with rubber and PVC covers for elevator service.

Our rubber belts have highly oil resistant covers, as well as anti-static and fire retardant properties.

C&T's interwoven polyester belts with PVC covers offer excellent bolt-holding properties and are MSHA rated for tension ratings or 200lb P.I.W. (per inch of width) and above.

FABRICATED BELTING

When one size fits all, C&T custom belt fabrication means we can provide the right belting solution specifically designed for each application or type of equipment:

- ▶ Herringbone and heavy-duty chevron cleats for incline conveyors and transport conveyors
- ▶ Lightweight rubber belts with short T-cleats for potato harvesting and nut harvesting

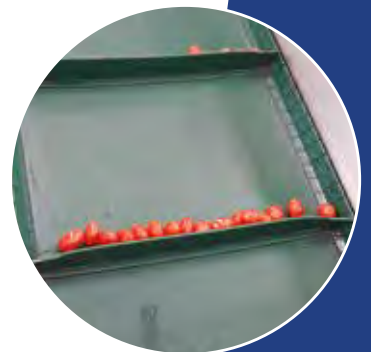

- ▶ PVC curved cleated belts for grape harvesting
- ▶ Rubber and PVC cross cleated belts for bean harvesting
- ▶ Slotted and cleated rubber belting for dewatering applications, such as tomatoes and other large vegetables

FLAT BELTING

A variety of lightweight PVC belting options are available from C&T, in stock and ready to go.

We have the right belt when conveying fruits and vegetables in packing houses or on sorting lines.

BALER BELTING

For balers, C&T offers both 2-ply and 3-ply belts for optimal performance on all makes and models, new or old. We also provide custom made replacement belts, as well as belts for both OEM and aftermarket programmes.

While other belt manufacturers talk about OEM quality, C&T supplies our range to major OEM's across New Zealand.

If these manufacturers trust C&T to keep their balers running at peak performance, you know it's a product you can stand behind and recommend to others too.
